I will truly miss Charlie. I've known him since I moved here on Young Street some 20 years ago. He was always happy and silly. He and my mom got along so great. Sometimes I think he was "hitting on her" LOL. The neighborhood will not be the same without him. Rest in Peace Charlie you deserve that and so much more.

“ Charlie was a wonderful freind sometimes in life you find that special freind that you can count on. Someone who changes your LIFE simply becomes part of your family that was Charlie. Someone who makes ure day brighter and brings that smile back on your face someone WHO show you that there's still good in people out there. Someone who will stand by you at times when you felt alone he was someone who would always listening and be there no matter what. He was always looking forward to to the positive in life and tried to reach out to all and let them hear gods word. His famous saying was [im blessed and highly favor. Im so thankful that Charlie was part of our family. And we will always hold on to the memories .and will sadly be miss until we meet again

“ I remember a trip we took to the Grand canyon. My Dad, my brother Mike, and I were hiking to the Indian Gardens when a monsoon rain hit and turned the trail into a pretty fast moving stream. My brother who was 8 was terrified. Dad put him up on his shoulders to get him out of the water and we hugged the side of the cliff until the rain passed and the trail cleared. Dad remained calm and strong. He always seemed so calm.

My husband and I moved into Richmond Hgts. 2+ years ago. I am a walker and a talker. Charlie usually sat in his chair on his front porch and we got acquainted the first time I walked around the circle by his house. We hadn't talked long before we learned we shared our salvation experience and were praising God together. Charlie was a disabled vet and had a wonderful little dog named Sugar. In the past I also had a little dog named Sugar so I volunteered to take Charlie's Sugar as I did my laps around the circle. We didn't love Charlie. If you know where something is, it isn't lost. I know when Charlie became absent from his body, he became present with his Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. I know I will see him again someday. I met Chuck and Barb earlier this year as they began coming to help with his Dad's care and we became fast friends because of our mutual love for Charlie. I'm so grateful they moved in with his dad and was able to spend these few months with him.
