“ I met John several years ago while attending St Francis. He and Donna were generally sitting near me and my sister. With John's outgoing personality and his ability to share informative and humorous stories, it didn't take long to feel I had known him for many years. He always made time to speak and share a smile. I have no doubt that John has already pulled together a new group and is sharing his stories with them. My prayers and thoughts are with Donna and his family.
