

Ronnie Lee Robinson

December 7, 1949 - January 2, 2023

Ronnie Lee Robinson, 73, of St. Albans, WV died on Monday, January 2, 2023 at his residence.

He was born in South Charleston, WV on December 7, 1941.

Ronnie was a mechanic, delivery driver and a musician his whole life. His CD, "Pieces of Life" has been sold as far as Europe and beyond. He spent years living there also. Ronnie spent the last 10 years in St. Albans taking care of his late parents, Joyce Louise Terry Robinson and her husband of 70 years, Elmer William Robinson.

He was also preceded in death by his brother, Dorsey Robinson; son, Brady Franklin Robinson.

Surviving are his daughter, Amy Lee Robinson Johnson; granddaughter, Rowan Alexandria Robinson; Niece, Anna Catherine "Cathi Jane" Ryder and her children, Savanna and Austin Ryder Ashwell; great niece and nephew, Paitlyn Gravely and Caleb Grayson Gravely; great nephew, Tyler Robinson of North Carolina; great aunt, Juanita Thompson; great niece, Helen Thompson.

Per Ronnie's request there will be no services.

I would like to extend a very special thank you and much love to my sister-in-law, Jacqueline Robinson, for all the years she spent looking after dad in so many ways. You're appreciated beyond words.

Also, I'd like to say that Terry Wilson, from Ona was a true friend of dad's for decades and was much loved and considered to be his "best" buddy.

In lieu of flowers the family suggests donations be made to Shriners Children's Lexington

“Cousin Ronnie was a trip. He always kept us laughing, he had stories that could go on forever. He lived a life very few could even imagine. My momma, Glorettia 'Robinson' Kidd still tells me stories of her ,Carol, Dorsey and Ronnie growing up together in the holler on Browns Creek.

“Ronnie Lee Robinson “Rowdy” will always hold a special place in my memories, in my heart.
He will be forever remembered strumming his guitar and singing bigger than life.
His funny sayings aka as “Rowdy-isms” will continue to spoken by hundreds of fans and loved ones.
We'll love you forever Rowdy. We are broken hearted to see you go.
