“ My aunt Rosemary was a blessing to everyone who knew her. She was quiet and calm, but would and could let you know if she didn't appreciate something. She was brave and very courageous and strong. She was a faithful Christian and wife, sister, daughter, daughter in law, mother, aunt, and grandmother. She lived as a witness to others of what those qualities and characteristics were to look like. She was an inspiration and helpful for those around her. I have many stories about my relationship with her and how I witnessed her love and care, for now I will just share this one; after I had Jason in 2000 she carried on family traditions with us. She invited us for special events and holidays. For Halloween trick or treat she always invited us to come to her house. The first time in Teays Valley, she invited us to participate in her neighborhood pizza event. Then someone in her HMO said that only people who lived in the neighborhood were able to participate. She graciously told them that was fine, she would no longer participate in their party and from then on she insisted they we still come to her house on Halloween trick or treat night. She either made or bought pizza for us even when she couldn't eat it and said that she enjoyed seeing Jason and my best friend Tina's girls all dressed up in their costumes for trick or treat. She always made a point for family interaction and included Tina along with us. Aunt Rosemary was the sweetest person ever and she has always and will always be an inspiration for me! I love and miss you Aunt Rosemary! Thank you for showing me how to be a Godly daughter, wife and mother! Rest in God for now I can't wait to see you again someday!
