“ David and I want to send our love and prayers. Being in ministry ourselves we didn't get to see her much BUT My memories of Shirley through the years have been this. SHE GLOWED WITH THE PRESENCE OF THE LORD! Her faith has now ended in sight. Our deepest sympathy to you Pastor Jerry and all the family and church family. We love you, David and Jan Bragg

“ She was one of the greatest people I've ever known, an unexpected ideological pivot point, and, very simply, my grandmother. Seeing her smiling face welcoming us whenever we would travel from our home in Akron to hers in St. Albans was always the highlight of our trips. Lounging around watching cable tv and sharing opinions on current events was something I will always treasure doing with her. Going to the church and watching her praise the Lord and dance in his name told me exactly where she would go when her time had come. And now that it has come to pass, I know she is with Jesus looking down on us all, wondering if we will join her when it's our turn. As her oldest surviving-direct grandchild it hurts losing her, but the pain of her loss will never overshadow the memories I will carry with me to my last breath.

“ She was the mother of the church a good friend and family. A true lady of God. Love by all that knew her. But I know that she is walking in the streets of pure gold. And at the feet of Jesus. And if I know her she would be laughing at use and say if she could look at me no more pain. And hope to see you here one day. Or I told you he lives me most. Love you Pastor Shirley.

“ In memory of Shirley my grandma Susie Cowger wanted to say she was the sweetest women she knew. Every time she had went to church with Shirley she always loved to see her setting in the front pew dancing around in the spirit for the lord. Now she is dancing in the spirit with Jesus. She is sadly missed by Susie and the family. As a sister susie loved her more than anyone could know. She was susie's best friend, prayer warrior , and the most godly women aside from herself that she knew. From the rest of the family we love you Shirley. We are happy you are at peace and have entered the pearly gates of heaven.
