Sidni, my long time friend. As far back as junior high when Maggie worked there as well. I've missed you these past few years, and now regret not seeking you out. You were a free spirit, open minded and my friend. My condolences to your family and children. I watched Jamie grow up for years and know the love you carried for your children. I love you Sidni and with your angle wings I know you'll never be far . Find my Amber and hold her tight for me . God Bless
