“ To my wonderful sister. You looked after others your whole life. It is sad the only person you neglected was yourself. I will always laugh at all the beach trips with dad. The Sunday trips for bagels and kitchen gadgets. The daily talks that always ended with love you and love you too. My world will be far sadder without you. Till we see you again. Rest in peace sis.

I really hate to hear of Sue's passing. We were only 4 months of age difference. I grew up with the entire family and loved them all. Rick, I am so, so sorry. If there's anything I can do? Please just let me know.

It's been years since I saw Sue, we had worked at the same financial institution and I remember her smile and her fun-loving attitude. My heartfelt sympathy goes out to her family members in their loss of this sweet lady.

Sue was my niece, my friend, my partner in petty crime together (for good things) and many other things that life throws at us. We talked every day to just check in on each other and mostly to see how each other was doing. Needless to say I am going to miss her and going down and stopping by for no reason other than other to say hi. I loved her more than words can express and a future without her looks awful gray. She was a good person that helped others. Rest in peace honey and fly high with the angels on good legs and no pain in your joints.
